We Are Here For One Another! - Part 2

A Workshop Conversation about Better Supporting and Servicing International Faculty and Staff at UMB

The Center for Innovative Teaching (CIT) is a grassroots faculty collective whose members understand that network building is a crucial part of putting down roots in Boston. CIT invites UMB faculty, staff and graduate students to attend this workshop discussion on the specific ways that international faculty, staff and students need to be more supported and advocated for at UMB. All discussion activities are designed to make UMB a more affirmative teaching and learning space for and with international faculty, staff and students. CIT welcomes those who are well-intentioned, generous, and want to build a UMB-wide community that supports and affirms their international colleagues and students.

Bring your lunch to this important workshop conversation on Tuesday, May 11, 1 PM – 2:30 PM.

Pre-registration is required:
